

Hí,

This is the first internet access since we left so sorry for not sending the blog. I have something written on my own computer but can't send this yet. Will try from Lima on Friday evening.

We are having a great time. We arrived at Kusi on Thursday evening and have enjoyed working and spending time with the boys. We're helping to dig the foundations for the special needs classroom to be added to the school.

On Sunday we walked down the mountain to Yungay to Church. Angel (Ang'hill), the housefather from Kusi, preached a very good sermon on bearing fruit.

The rest of the day was spent in World Cup fever, with everyone cheering on Spain. The boys loved it. We then did t-shirt printing before having our own Kusi world cup. A tremendous day. God was smiling down on us.

Please pray for continued health and safety of the team.

Pray also for our morning devotions, which are being well attended (at 7.30am!!)

Got to go.

Lots of love.
